READING
(Decoding)

RD-1 SOLVING LANGUAGE DIFFICULTIES
Educators Publishing Service, Inc.

A workbook designed for fourth, fifth, and sixth grade children having a specific language disability. Can be useful to remedial teachers working with dyslexics of other grades and those handicapped by auditory confusion and by inability to quickly recognize words.

RD-2 WORD ATTACK MANUAL
Educators Publishing Service, Inc., 1962

This manual, developed for students in junior high school, aids in improving word recognition and spelling skills. This may also be used in high school. The lessons are divided into Instruction, Review, Practical Application, and a test.

RD-3 DISCOVERING PHONICS WE USE
Rand McNally & Co.

Discovering Phonics We Use is a complete word-recognition program that helps students master the basic phonics skills needed for reading. It uses a variety of instructional strategies--letter substitution, rhyming words, riddles, crossword puzzles, and word games--to introduce, reinforce, and review each skill.

While designed for elementary students, this series can be utilized as a supplementary material for older students.

These two kits provide reading games (20 each) reinforcing phonetic and structural analysis, sight word, and word meaning skills. The game boards are colorful and feature contemporary titles and formats appropriate to older students. Each game reinforces a specific skill and if used in sequence, cover the full range of decoding skills.

RD-10 SPAR
Ideal School Supply Co.

This game employs the utilization of phonetic and structural analysis to improve spelling and reading.
